Botanic name : Boerhavia repens L.

Common name: Creeping spiderling, Trevinha

Family: Nyctaginaceae

Habitat: Terrestrial

Distribution: Pantropical

Description: Perennial herb, stem slender, leaves opposite, simple, petiolate, exstipulate, glandular hairy or glabrescent, bracteoles small, axillary inflorescence.

Phytochemicals: All plant parts contain flavonoid glycosides and the alkaloid punarnavine such as rotenoids, flavonoids, xanthones, purine nucleoside, lignans, and steroids

Medicinal/Economic uses: Antioxidant, antiglycation activity. The root is applied as diuretic, laxative, cardio-tonic, stomachic, asthma, chicken pox, dropsy, leprosy, jaundice